GardenWalk

Midland, MI 🍃 Tuesday, July 16, 2019 🍃 2:00 p.m. - 7:00 p.m.

The Frawley Garden

Described by the owners as an "urban homestead," this city garden features nearly 40 varieties of trees that produce thousands of pounds of fruit each year! Explore what's possible on a city lot in this impressive space at 4613 Lund Drive, which also features a delightful combination of vegetables, herbs, flowers, and shrubs. 🌿

The Stolz Garden

The garden at 3657 E. Felicia Drive doubles as a private retreat for the perfect staycation! Reflecting the garden owners' love of entertaining family and friends, the luxurious surroundings include a walled patio, pool, outdoor kitchen, fireplace feature, and yoga studio. This garden also showcases the use of container gardening to add instant pops of color that can be changed with the seasons. 🌿

The Hoshaw Garden

There's always something blooming at 3704 Dartmouth Court in a garden that brings science to life! A peat bog with carnivorous plants is a unique feature of this garden, while a pond with a waterfall is home to water lilies, goldfish, and emergent plants. This garden is a great example of showcasing different varieties within a plant family, with multiple peonies, daylilies, hellebores, clematis, and hosta. 🌿

The Wolfe Garden

The unique garden at 116 Arbury Place is a "place to grow" for orphaned, rescued, and donated plants of all kinds. This is truly an eclectic garden with a wide variety of perennials, various types of berry bushes, and specimen plants. Between the plants the owner shares and the visual appeal, it's easy to see why neighbors often walk by to experience the joy this garden provides! 🌿

The Coons Garden

Come revisit a past GardenWalk favorite to see how it has evolved over the years! The garden at 1209 Helen Street uses shape, texture, and color in trees, shrubs, and perennials to create the background for this space, while annuals in pots are used to draw the eye through the garden. Metal and ceramic structures also pop out unexpectedly to provide a sense of whimsy. 🌿

Dow Gardens • Silent auction items will be on display here

Start your GardenWalk early at Dow Gardens! Your ticket includes entry to Dow Gardens and Whiting Forest during their regular hours. Stroll the grounds at 1809 Eastman Avenue and enjoy the "Origami in the Gardens," or explore summertime views from the Canopy Walk. Enjoy complimentary refreshments in the Visitors' Center, as well as 10% off your total purchase in the gift shop with your ticket. 🌿
